Join us in supporting civic engagement in Nevada

We are UNLV Model United Nations (MUN), a registered student organization at the University of Nevada, Las Vegas. We offer a platform for civic and social engagement in Southern Nevada by facilitating productive discussion of international affairs, diplomacy, and global issues.

“MUN was one of my favorite experiences in college. Being a part of MUN allowed me to hone in on my analytical and public-speaking skills, research a myriad of interesting topics, and, of course, meet so many amazing people! It’s an amazing club with so many opportunities.”

– Francis Anisco,
Tax Consultant at Deloitte and UNLV MUN alumnus

What We Do

...as host of NVMUN

Since 2015, UNLVMUN has hosted NVMUN, an annual conference for high school and middle school students across Las Vegas. This two-day conference hosted on UNLV's campus allows young students an opportunity to come together and strengthen their skills, make new connections, and learn something new. It is staffed entirely by volunteers from UNLV MUN and all materials and supplies are provided by our organization.

...as a nationally-ranked collegiate team

Our members are active in traveling to collegiate conferences around the country to compete with other university teams. For a number of years, we have been Nevada's only competitive MUN team on the circuit and our members have earned a number of awards, earning us recognition as one of the top 75 North American College MUN teams.

Introduction

What We Do

...as leaders in the community

To host the NVMUN conference, our members commit months of preparation and volunteer to chair hours of debate during the event. Throughout the year, we regularly visit high school teams to give presentations, offer guidance, and share resources, and we empower high school students to lead their own events by volunteering to chair debate for them.

We also strive to create a welcoming environment at UNLV, fostering students' public speaking, research, writing, and leadership skills all without collecting member dues.

Finally, we have an active community service presence in Vegas, and have volunteered at local parks, community gardens, and food banks.
